

HOW TO CHOOSE YOUR PAPER TOWEL

In the world of paper hand towels, fold refers to the way a towel is folded up in the packs. Both C-Fold and Multifold paper towels are standard types of paper towels offered in commercial bathrooms. This includes bathrooms located in places like shopping centres, office buildings, public spaces, schools and hotels. Both types of paper towels fit in paper towel dispensers and most dispensers accommodate either type.

The fold impacts the way a towel comes out of the dispenser. C-Fold towels have tabs that are folded in on each other and form a "C" shape. Multifold, or Z-Fold towels have an extra fold, which creates a "Z" Shape. These are also known as Multifold paper towels, and sometimes "M-Fold" paper towels.

We recommend the Interfold or Z-Fold Towels every time for the following 2 reasons:

The towels come out one at a time:

With C-Fold Towels, you can pinch the towels in the dispenser and pull out multiple towels at a time – something which is much more difficult to do with an Interfold or Multifold towel, as you can only get one at a time. Of course, when towels can come out in clumps at a time, this makes it much more likely to get paper waste on the floor. Which in turn gets wet and which in turn gets messy. This really damages the washroom experience.

The towels come out opened up.

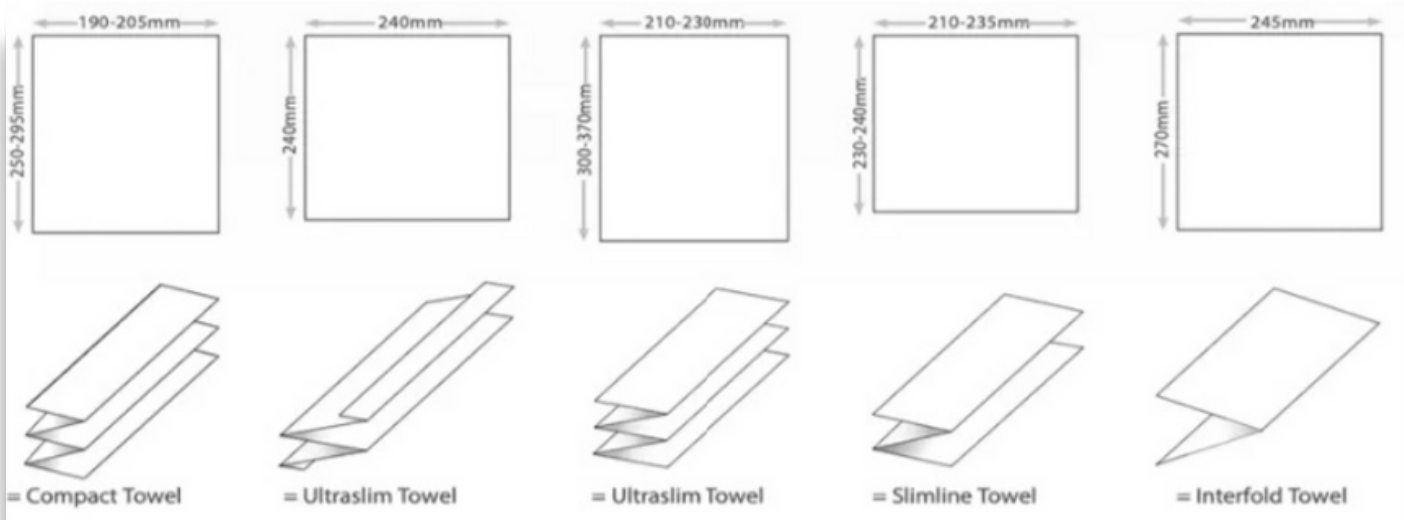

With a C-Fold the towel comes out, and quite often it is still folded up when it comes out of the dispenser. And of course, very rarely do people open the towel up to dry their hands, they will just take more towels. With an Interfold, as you pull the towel from the dispenser, it opens the towel up, so you use fewer towels to dry your hands.

Sizes

The size of both types of paper towels varies by manufacturer. Both are approximately 23mm to 33mm long by 23mm to 30mm wide when opened up. When closed, they are approximately 3 inches wide. When purchasing paper towels for a dispenser, check the measurements of the dispenser to determine what size to order.
